Ivana Kobilca (1861-1926) - paintings

21 Jun - 10 Feb 2019, National Gallery

To mark its one hundredth anniversary, the National Gallery of Slovenia presents the life and work of Ivana Kobilca, one of the most well-known Slovenian artists of all times. Together with her friends and acquaintances like Rosa Pfäffinger, Maria Slavona and Käthe Kollwitz, she was one of the first female painters of the modern age that succeeded in a traditionally male field.

Her first retrospective in forty years presents around 130 works of art from all periods and of different genres. Besides popular works, like Woman Drinking Coffee, Summer, Children in Grass and Mira Pintar, many lesser-known paintings will be presented; together, the pictures reflect Kobilca's creative power and the influences of European art centres.

Sundays at 10:00 guided tours in English.

Open: 10:00 - 18:00, Thursday 10:00 - 20:00. Closed: Mondays and 1 Jan.

Stojan Kerbler - retrospective

25 Oct 2018 - 27 Jan 2019, Museum of Modern Art

Stojan Kerbler is one of the main figures in the field of Slovene photography over last fifty years. The present retrospective covers a wide range of Kerbler's works, from the late 1950s to the early 1990s and illustrates the master photographer's search for a suitable photographic idiom, the changes in and development of his photographic expression that were the result of his uncompromising vision and his humanity as well as his inner development, which in turn well serve to illustrate the inner logic of his changes in style and subject matter. The exhibition features 174 photographs, a showcase of a rich selection of magazines, catalogues and other publications with contributions on Kerbler's work, as well as two documentaries about the photographer.

Open: 10:00 - 18:00. Closed: Mondays and 1 Jan.

Milton Glaser: Posters

23 Nov 2018 - 3 Mar 2019, International Centre of Graphic Arts

Milton Glaser (1929, New York) is one of the most important graphic designers in the world, who has designed hundreds of corporate images, magazines, newspapers, books, LP covers, and has created thousands of posters during his career spanning over fifty years. He has been inscribed into the world history of design with his iconic "I love NY" logo. Milton Glaser has decided to donate thirty-five original posters (created between 1966 and 2016) to the City of Ljubljana, which will enrich the collection of the International Centre of Graphic Arts after the exhibition.

Open: 10:00 - 18:00. Closed: Mondays and 1 Jan.

Drago Tršar: Erotic Sculpture

22 Nov 2018 - 20 Jan 2019, City Art gallery of Ljubljana

Academic sculptor and academician Drago Tršar has for many decades marked the Slovenian artistic space with a great creative energy and author's recognizable artistic language. He represents one of the prime sculptural authorities in our cultural space and his extensive scope of work of various series, cycles and individual works, both public (he signed his name under many important public sculptures) and private sculptures, deserves a comprehensive presentational exhibition in the largest and most important Slovenian gallery spaces.

Open: 11:00 - 19:00. Closed: Mondays. Admission free

Over my Eyes: Stories of Iraq

4 Dec 2018 - 3 Mar 2019, Jakopič Gallery

The exhibition offers an unfamiliar perspective of Iraq through the eyes of a generation of young local photographers. The work of these photographers forms a unique and previously unseen view of Iraq and captures the fragmented picture of contemporary life across the country: from the vastness of the mountainous northern borderlands, to a multiplicity of scenes across the country, with the fading flashbacks of its recent history and the effects of the ongoing conflict.

Saturdays at 16:30 Public guided tours in English

Open: 10:00 - 18:00. Closed: Mondays, holidays.

Ljubljana. History. City.

Permanent exhibition at the City Museum of Ljubljana

The permanent exhibition about the history of Ljubljana. How well do you know the rich history of Slovenian capital? Pile-dwellers, Emona, Middle and New Ages, the 20th and 21st centuries... what is the history of Ljubljana? A chronological presentation of Ljubljana's millennia of heritage with precious authentic artefacts, like the world's oldest wooden wheel with an axle aged 5,200 years, is on display on Ljubljana. History. City. exhibition. In our globalised world, heritage just might be what differentiates cities the most, and it also shaped our capital's identity. Therefore, the exhibition proudly highlights local peculiarities, stories of everyday life in the past, and the individuals who left the strongest impressions on our history.

Open: 10:00 - 18:00, Thursdays until 21:00. Closed: Mondays and 1 Jan.

Plečnik Collection

The new permanent exhibition at the Plečnik House in Trnovo presents the most important projects of the late architect. Plečnik's creativity comes to life through the plans, models and photographs of his creations such as the Zacherl House in Vienna, Prague Castle, the National and University Library in Ljubljana, the Ljubljana Central Market, Žale Cemetery, the Church of St. Michael at the Ljubljana Marshes and numerous other masterpieces. Several plans of Plečnik's never realized visions are also on display. The Cathedral of Freedom, the master's vision of the Slovenian parliament, is especially worthy of our attention.

Guided tours: every hour, on the hour (the last guided tour at 17:00). A group may be a maximum of seven persons.

Open: 10:00 - 18:00. Closed: Mondays, holidays

Zoran Mušič (1909-2005)

Permanent exhibition at the National Gallery

Zoran Mušič, the best known 20th century Slovenian-born painter and a man with more than one homeland, spent most of his life between Venice and Paris. He mostly painted landscapes, still lifes, portraits, Dalmatian donkeys and horses, trees, views of Venice, double portraits with his wife Ida, and poignant self-portraits depicting him as an old man. His visual motifs were always related to the Slovenian region of Kras and its typical scenes. He became world famous with his series of paintings We Are Not the Last, in which he relived the scenes he experienced in the Dachau concentration camp. Ljubljana's National Gallery displays the world's only permanent survey exhibition of Mušič's work, which explores the entire range of the famous artist's painting techniques.

Open: 10:00 - 18:00, Thursdays 10:00-20:00. Closed: Mondays and 1 Jan.

Prestigious exhibition of original artfully made jewellery, tableware, and other items of artistic merit. The gold items from the imperial treasury of the Ming dynasty, more precisely, from the Wanli period (1573-1620), are great masterpieces of gold crafts, and they show the sophisticated taste as well as the economic power of the famous rulers. Jewellery, tableware, and other items of artistic merit show the social position of their owners, while depictions of dragons with five claws and phoenixes reveal connections with the imperial family. These items rarely leave China and can be seen in Slovenia for the first time.

Open daily: 10:00 - 18:00, Thursdays 10:00-20:00. Closed: 1 Jan.

No Fun at All (Sweden) - punk rock

27 Jan, 20:00, Metelkova mesto alternative culture centre

No Fun at All is a Swedish punk rock band that formed in the summer of 1991. The name was inspired by a tongue-in-cheek version of The Stooges' song "No Fun" as covered by the Sex Pistols, and the name of the band Sick of It All. After a prolonged break by intermittent trips to the stage, they released the album Grit this year, which reimbursed them back high on the charts, but mostly they prove that they have not lost speed and grunts over the years in their live performances.
